MURDER AT THE DEADWOOD CANTINA

For weeks, people have been pouring into the small western town of Deadwood for the biggest poker tournament this side of the Mississippi. From outlaws to marshals to cantina girls, the vast array of visitors and residents of Deadwood have made this small western frontier town THE place to be.

As the festivities of the poker tournament conclude, a celebration party is planned at the Deadwood Cantina to award the prize money for the tournament and to celebrate what is hoped to be a very financially successful venture for the cantina.

With a smattering of bandits, bank owners, cantina girls, card players, east coast debutantes, and a few of the locals, this is guaranteed to make for a very interesting evening indeed.

YOU WOULD BE A FOOL TO MISS THIS CELEBRATION!

Night of Mystery

NO VARMITS
NO FIGHTIN
NO BANDITS

AND OTHER RULES AT THE DEADWOOD CANTINA

READ YOUR CHARACTER SHEET AND THE GAZETTE. Included in this packet will be valuable information!!! Be sure to review your own character description and the newspiece/s included for they both include background information that may come in useful at the party.

DO NOT REVEAL EVERYTHING ABOUT YOUR CHARACTER. Before the party, if you are discussing your character with others, use your discretion as to not give too much away–you may find out at the party that you are the killer indeed!

DRESS THE PART. The more into character you are the easier it will be for you to truly enjoy all the aspects of the night. Not only does a great costume add to the excitement and enjoyment, but it increases your chance to be voted best dressed. See ACluelessMurder.com for more costuming ideas and resources. See MurderatTheDeadwoodCantina.com for more costuming ideas.

USE YOUR MONEY CREATIVELY. At the start of the party, you will receive money to use any way you choose. Bribery and blackmail are two of the most common uses we found - and are highly encouraged! The wealthiest player at the end of the night will also receive an award, so get creative!

GET SOCIAL!!! We LOVE to see and promote all of your party pictures and fun! Go ahead and post your creative costumes, crazy antics, and super-fun party-goers - BUT ABSOLUTELY NO SPOILERS ON SOCIAL!!! This includes, but is not limited to, pictures or mentions of the victim, murderer, and/or pertinent clues in the game. As much fun as it is to write a caption like, "my partner killed me last night!" or share a video of your guest "dying"- posting these details not only keeps us from promoting you, but also also ruins the mystery for others. Since spoiler posts create a calculated loss of business, you can be liable to pay the calculated loss of sales upon discovery of the violation. So keep it fun, crazy, and show us your best spoiler-free content!!! and don't forget to tag us after!

Celebration Party THE Place To Be

With the 1st Annual Poker Tournament in town here, there has been a sweltering of visitors and residents milling around town this week. As the tournament dwindles down, anticipation for the celebration party only grows. The party is planned to take place tonight at the Deadwood Cantina, Friday, October 20, 1874. The party is planned to reward the prize money to the winner and to celebrate the success of the tournament. Many of the visitors as well as the locals will be in attendance. Among those that are expected are:

Harry High-Stakes—Cantina Owner. As the organizer of this grand event, Harry has a lot at stake if it is not successful!

Henrietta High-Stakes—Business partner to Harry High-Stakes. Spending less and less time at the cantina lately, could Henrietta be into something or someone else?

Gambling Jack—Card player. The best hand in poker either side of the Mississippi, Jack has not lost a major tournament in the last five years. Until now.

Anna Belle—Backer and friend of Gambling Jack. Known as Jack's good luck charm, some say Anna Belle is the reason Gambling Jack never loses.

Mitch Maverick—Traveling Businessman. As the winner of the tournament, many question how a businessman could have such great card skills. Could Mitch be the next poker phenomenon?

Holly Hickok—Card player. A real southern belle with a flare for poker, many wonder what a girl like Holly is doing in the Wild West?

Clay Coldwell—Card player. A once known poker-great, Clay may no longer be lucky in cards, but he may be proving to be lucky in friendship.

Montgomery Money—Land Investor. Arriving just this last night, word is Montgomery has his eye on purchasing the cantina and is using this traveling opportunity to seize it.

Elizabeth Money—Sister to Montgomery Money. Although Elizabeth has been here scouting land prospects for her brother all week, she is still not used to the rough and rugged ways of the West.

Minnie Money—Debutante. As the sheltered daughter of Montgomery Money and niece of Elizabeth Money, Minnie's first trip out west has been an adventure that has taught her a lot about the wild ways of the West and the people it breeds.

Banker Bob—Bank Owner. After the Bank of Deadwood was robbed earlier this week, Bob suspects the culprit is someone in need of ante money for the poker tournament. Will Bob take justice into his own hands to punish the bandit?

Banker Bonnie—Business partner to Banker Bob. Desperate for Bob's attention, Bonnie will do anything to get it. Anything.

Jesse Wales—Outlaw. Is Jesse here to meet up with old acquaintances or is this purely a business trip?

Poker Alice—Poker Dealer. Alice makes her living dealing cards at the cantina, but could she be hiding more than her loyalty to her favorite bartender?

Sheriff Sam—Deadwood Sheriff. Although Sam is considered the law enforcement of this town, it has been said the only way to get anything 'enforced' is by padding Sam's wallet.

Marshal Dalton—Federal Marshal. The Marshal was assigned to Deadwood to insure that there is no unlawful activity at the poker tournament. With outlaw rule becoming the way of the West these days, it is time the federal government put some order into place.

Sally Starr—Cantina Girl. Because of Sally's strong allegiance to both Harry and Henrietta High-Stakes, Sally will see to it that the cantina thrives at all costs—but what price is too high?

Taffy Garrette—Cantina Girl. Taffy is the eyes and ears of the cantina, someone who might know a little too much about what is about to go down.

Barb Cassidy—Outlaw. Barb has been in town all week and no one knows quite why.

Billy-The-Bartender—Cantina Bartender and Bookkeeper. Billy knows the cantina life from every side of the coin and has his own suspicions about who is holding the cantina back from succeeding.

REWARD

$5,000

For information about the bandit who robbed the Deadwood Bank earlier this week. Information MUST lead to apprehension or death of the bandit. Please see Banker Bob.

Poker Tourn Draws Far, But Not Wide

The draw for this tournament has been a huge success, with card players coming from all parts of the Union. Poker greats such as Holly Hickok and Gambling Jack have made their way up from the South and we have even seen some faces from the East make their way to these parts to join in on the fun. While the card playing talent has reached record highs for these parts, the actual number of card players is not as abundant as anticipated. Some believe that the caliber of card playing talent is so great that most amateur card players chose not to compete. Others speculate that with a $2,500 ante, the stakes were just too high for the average card player. Of course, the $100,000 purse is the highest known pay-out at this time.

Henrietta High-Stakes

The business partner of Harry High-Stakes (the Deadwood Cantina owner), you have not always (and still do not) have a solid partnership. Your partnership troubles started over six years ago when Harry left you to seek out fortune in the Black Hills. When Harry originally left, you expected him to be gone for a few months, but he didn't return for nearly five years! When Harry returned a little less than a year ago, he seemed genuine about seeking your forgiveness and wanting to start a new business with you. Because of Harry's apparent devotion to starting over, you found it in your heart to forgive him and attempted to rebuild your old friendship. Your decision to stay with Harry was in part due to the fact that in Harry's time away, he had accumulated some gold. With Harry's newfound wealth, Harry established the Deadwood Cantina, promising you that his investment was all with the intention of providing a better life for you.

Despite Harry's good intentions, your partnership continues to struggle. Even after promising you a better life financially, you have witnessed Harry wasting cantina profits at the card tables. You are worried about the cantina's financial situation and you have heard rumors that the cantina may soon be reclaimed by the bank if Harry does not pay up. After expressing concern over the cantina's finances, Harry turned the books over to Billy-The-Bartender (the bartender of the cantina). Even though you are not pleased with your partner, you do not want to lose the cantina. As a woman in the West, you know that if you split from Harry, you would receive nothing, but if your partner were to end up dead (or in jail), his share of the cantina would be yours. For that reason, you want Harry to keep the cantina. Knowing Harry would never want to lose you, you threatened to leave the business if he could not show you the proper (financial) attention that you deserve. Harry responded by giving you a rather expensive necklace that you adore.

In addition to your partnership problems with Harry, you are frustrated and irritated with the bankers in town, Banker Bob and Banker Bonnie. As the holders of the cantina loan, Banker Bonnie and Banker Bob are aware of the financial trouble that you are in and they are trying to take advantage of the situation. Rumor has it that Banker Bob has already sought out a new investor to purchase the cantina pending the foreclosure of the cantina. Recently, you have noticed Banker Bonnie frequenting the cantina and you wonder why she is spending so much time in your establishment. Just the other day you saw her having a sarsaparilla with Barb Cassidy. Whatever Banker Bonnie is up to, you do not like it.

In recent weeks, you have noticed the cantina girl's profits dwindling. Because of this, you mandated that your cantina girls only sell dance tickets to the highest-paying customers until the cantina is debt-free. Sally Starr (a devoted employee) was very saddened by this, since she admires Clay Coldwell (a low-paying customer), but you have every reason to believe that Sally will abide by your wishes.

As the Deadwood Cantina Poker Tournament Party approaches, you are looking forward to attending. Since the cantina is in desperate need of money, you are hoping for a great turnout! At the party, you plan to be the perfect hostess while also seeing how much money you can try to solicit for the cantina to keep it out of foreclosure.

Acting and Dressing Your Part: As the business partner of the organizer of this grand event, you relish being what you consider the center of this extravaganza. To the grand event, you will want to wear a fancy dress with a ruffled skirt, accompanied by the beautiful necklace that Harry High-Stakes gave you. *For more ideas on how to dress and a glossary of wild western words and phrases to use at the party, please see please see the party tips section at www.nightofmystery.com.
