★ MURDER AT THE DEADWOOD CANTINA ★

Barb Cassidy

Outlaw. Barb's been in town all week and no one knows quite why.

How to Play It

A tough bandit with a feminine flair (red lipstick!). Act mysterious about why you're in town, and don't hide that you can't stand Poker Alice.

Starter Lines

1. Why am I in Deadwood? Business, sugar. Who with? That'll cost ya.
2. Billie, you sure do pour a fine sarsaparilla. Care to take a stroll with me and swap stories sometime?
3. Poker Alice? She acts a whole lot more righteous than she really is!

Be Ready If Asked

"What are you doing in town?" → "Business. Pay me and I'll tell you WHO it was with, but never WHAT."

"Who do you think robbed the bank?" → "I saw Poker Alice coming out of that bank during the robbery!"

"Sorry, I'm not interested in 'dangerous company.'" → "Dangerous? Me? Sugar, I'm sweet as sarsaparilla."

When to use these: After Harry's welcome, go find the person each line mentions (or anyone nearby) and work all three into conversation before the lights go out. Tell the host quietly when you're done. After the murder, follow your B envelope.

OBJECTIVES

Barb Cassidy

Starting Objectives:

- Pay extra attention to with Billie-The-Bartender (the cantina barmaid and bookkeeper). Find out if Billie has any interest in hanging out with you outside with you.
- Let Banker Bonnie (Banker Bob's business partner) know that if she ever has any other business needs that you can help her out with, you would be happy to.
- If anyone questions why you are in town, let them know you were here on business. If they offer you money, you may let them know who your business dealings were with (but not what your business dealings consisted of).
- Tell Sheriff Sam (the sheriff) that you saw Poker Alice (the poker dealer) coming out of the bank during the robbery. (You do not like Alice and you would like to throw suspicion away from yourself.)
- Find out exactly why Jesse Wales (the outlaw) is in town. You may have to pay Jesse to learn the truth.
- If anyone asks, openly admit that you do not like Poker Alice (the poker dealer) since you believe she acts more righteous than she actually is!

©Night of Mystery, www.nightofmystery.com

Barb Cassidy

Earlier this week, you traveled to Deadwood for business, but ended up staying for pleasure. You are a bandit by nature, a trade not taken on by many women of this time, but that is what makes you so successful at it. The authorities are rarely looking for a woman when they are seeking out perpetrators, which helps with your getaways by allowing you to go unnoticed as the guilty party. Earlier this week, you were hired by Banker Bonnie (Banker Bob's business partner) to stage a bank robbery in her partner's bank. Although Banker Bonnie's motives for staging the hold-up confused you, the pay was good and you got away with the crime without a problem. (Later, you only had to return half of the money to Bonnie in secret.)

While you were in Deadwood, you ran into Jesse Wales (another outlaw). Intrigued as to why Jesse may be in town, you decided to stay and see what all the excitement was about. During your stay, Billie-The-Bartender (the cantina barmaid) has caught your attention and you have taken a special interest in her. During the time you have spent at the cantina trying to capture Billie's attention, Billie has often been distracted. When you inquired as to what was on her mind, Billie confided in you that the cantina was in some financial trouble and that it was up to her to balance the books. While you believe Billie's story, you also wonder if Billie's heart may be somewhere else. You have seen Billie look admiringly at Poker Alice (the poker dealer) and you wonder if Alice may be the object of Billie's loyalty. You do not care for Poker Alice due to her past. A once wellknown, deadly bandit (Assassin Alice), Poker Alice now pretends to be a law-abiding citizen. You find Alice's newly-found, righteous attitude disingenuous and fake. Despite Alice's holier-than-thou exterior, you know that she is as deadly as they come and you don't like it!

Despite your ongoing dislike of Poker Alice, you are excited to attend the Deadwood Poker Tournament Party. At the party, you hope to get the answers to some of your questions, reconnect with others, show Poker Alice that you are more of a woman than she is and drum up some bandit business if you can! By doing all this, you are certain that you can gain the attention and loyalty of Billie-The-Bartender!

Acting and Dressing Your Part: As a bandit by nature, you are more tough and rugged than most women, but still dress with a feminine flare. Considering your trade, you may want to dress in cowboy boots, spurs, chaps, as well as bring gun(s), a holster and a bandana. Although you dress for the rough lifestyle you lead, you are still feminine at heart and love to wear bright red lipstick to accentuate this. For more ideas on how to dress and a glossary of wild western words and phrases to use at the party, please see please see the party tips section at www.nightofmystery.com. Simply type in murderatthedeadwoodcantina.com and explore the guest info and costuming sections on the website.

© Night of Mystery Inc. - www.nightofmystery.com